PARTNERS IN CRIME

After a bizarre accident, the male lead (Sergio Castellitto) suffers from total amnesia. To help him recover the memory, his wife (Margherita Buy) tells him several stories about their married life.

According to the woman, their marriage is a happy oasis of mature understanding, an ideal relationship in which both are engaged to succeed since the wedding day. But her husband, who has the acute sensitivity of a detective story writer, feels that something is hidden behind the words of his wife.

He begins to investigate and asking more pressing questions, the woman answers evasively and with distress, confirming his suspects: she is hiding something. The path to the Truth is complex and painful, as well as full of surprises for both of them. As in a long psychoanalytic session, husband and wife compare their feelings and their experience, hoping to get to repair a marriage that is likely to go to pieces due to mutual inattention and routine.
